NUMBER 246

Postmaster General Howe has telegraphed to Washington that he will assume the duties of his office some time during the first week in January.

President Arthur will spend the holidays at his home in New York city. He went to New York from Washington in company with three detectives who acted as a guard.

The reports from Washington say, that the Democrats in Congress will filibuster until the term of the Forty-seventh Congress expires in order to prevent the seating of persons of the Chalmers type who have procured their seats through fraud. This is Democratic boasting, from which they will back down.

The Inter Ocean, in speaking of the assignments of the House chairmanships, says this of Congressman Williams: "One of the best assignments is that of Mr. Williams, of Wisconsin, at the head of the committee on Foreign Affairs, where he will find ample room for the display of his abilities and the long experience he has had with the questions with which he must deal."

As might be expected, the Democrats in Congress are mad over the committee appointments, especially are they dissatisfied with assignments to the committee on elections. They grumbling say that the way this committee is formed, all the contested seats will be given to the Republicans. If the Republicans did not give the Republican contestants the seats, they would be dull scholars, paying no attention to the lessons taught by the Democrats during the six years they had control of the House of Representatives. As a rule, the Democrats ousted the Republicans and filled their seats with Democrats whether justice was outraged or not in the transaction. A little of the Democratic kind of civil service and reform, administered by the Republicans, although it might be unwise and unjust, should not excite the Democrats, because it is simply a dose of their own medicine.

A little item of $297,635.16 has been found due the United States government from the State of Wisconsin. During the war the general government levied a direct tax upon the people of $2,000,000, to provide for the sustenance of the armies in the field. It seems to have been a foolish measure when it is considered how insignificant that sum would be in comparison to the amount needed and the ability of the United States to provide money in the proper way, but the tax was levied, nevertheless, and Wisconsin's share was $519,635.67, and the balance unpaid and due is the sum first stated. No one supposed for a moment that there was any balance due the government, and consequently this new discovery created quite a surprise in and about the capital at Madison. The only course to take is to levy a tax to meet this demand of the general government which will probably be done by the coming Legislature.

Postmaster General Howe owns a farm near Green Bay, and as a matter of course, is much interested in agricultural news. A short time ago, the Milwaukee Republican and News published in its columns some rules by which the weight of live stock could be closely estimated. These rules were read by the Postmaster General, and having a steer to which he applied the rules with most astonishing success—he writes the result to Mr. Rublee, editor of the Republican and News, and for the benefit of those who want their cattle to weigh heavy, at least on paper, we reprint Mr. Howe's letter:

GREEN BAY, Dec. 18.—The Republican and News, a few days ago, contained two rules for estimating the weight of live cattle. The second one, as you journalists say, is important if true. It makes the weight of a steer of mine 67,400 pounds. As the great Syracuse ox only weighed 4,000 pounds, and as my steer is only two years old, and not very large of its age, the butchers argue that he cannot weigh so much as 67,400 pounds. Of course this is a mere theory of theirs, and though somewhat plausible, it must yield to scientific facts. May I tell the butchers that you want your rule?

Sincerely yours,
T. O. Howe.

For some time past there have been rumors that the Chicago Times would likely go into bankruptcy, as it is already mortgaged for more than the concern is worth. One item of indebtedness is for print paper, the bills for this material alone amounting to $300,000. There may be no truth in the report of the suspension of the Times, but it would not be a surprise, however, in newspaper circles should that sheet become completely crushed beneath the mortgages which now weigh so heavily upon it. There was a time when the Chicago Times was the most successful newspaper in all the West. It was made to sell in saloons, on the streets, in hotels, and on railway trains, but never in the homes of the people. It dealt in the worst kind of sleaze, and it was never happier than when defaming characters. Of course, such a paper has its day, and its day is now numbered. It can never get the sympathy of the great masses of readers, and can never win that confidence of the public without which no newspaper can reach success and become permanently established. A little solid principle and a few grains of sound judgment thrown in with Mr. Storey's dash and enterprise of a few years ago, would have made the Chicago Times equal in financial and political strength to the New York Herald.

There are some new developments in the controversy going on between the stockholders of the Milwaukee Sentinel, and there are nothing less than the issue of fraudulent stock by Messrs. Murphy and McCord, of that paper. Since the summons was served on them on the 13th of December, they manufactured $11,900 of this kind of stock. Claiming to represent a majority of the stock by adding the bogus issue to the bona fide stock in their possession, they obtained an injunction restraining Messrs. Wells, Halsey, Colby, W. G. Roberts and Mrs. Matt. H. Carpenter, from transferring their stock, from commencing proceedings for the appointment of a receiver, and from attempting, by force or otherwise, to take possession of the Sentinel property. There promises to be an interesting time connecting with this matter before Murphy loses his grip on the Sentinel. In the application for an injunction, Murphy states that he apprehends an attempt to seize the Sentinel property by violence, to which the Republican and News makes answer: "Thrice is he armed who has his quarrel just," but in this case it seems to be thought that revolvers are necessary. Messrs. Wells and Halsey have not hitherto been reported as men likely to resort to acts of violence, and the probability of their making a midnight assault upon the Sentinel building are rather remote. Neither revolvers or bogus stock, however, will prevent them from asserting their rights, and by proper methods, taking possession of the property to which they have the lawful right."

THE PACKED WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE.

The Chicago Tribune is a free trade paper and therefore does not like the make-up of the House committee on Ways and Means. It finds fault with Speaker Keifer for putting William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the oldest member of the House and a sturdy protectionist, at the head of the committee. It also finds fault because a majority of the members of the committee are in favor of protection.

It is very fortunate that the protectionists largely hold the balance of power on the Ways and Means committee. It is by far the most important committee in the House, and yields more influence than any other one in that body. The late President Garfield was chairman of that committee for some time, and it is said he once made the remark that the Ways and Means committee of the House of Representatives had the power to make the commercial world tremble, and there is a good deal of truth in this. The constitution requires that all revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives, and this committee has almost absolute control and direction of the methods that shall be pursued for raising the government revenues with such power as this, it outranks all the others in Congress and a membership thereof is regarded as a more desirable thing than a chairmanship of any other committee. Having such extraordinary powers as this, it is no wonder that the free traders grumble at the composition of the committee, for there is one thing which is morally certain, and that is that no free trade measure will ever receive the endorsement of the Ways and Means.

The country is to be congratulated that this committee is manned by men who believe in the principle of defending American manufactures against ruinous foreign competition. During the past twenty years the United States has made marvelous industrial progress under a tariff law which protects, and that protection could not be stricken down without injuring the interests of every State in the Union. Manufacturing is no longer a sectional interest. There was a time when none but Northern members of Congress believed in protection, and they were nearly all Republican; but now the South, as she begins to build her factories, her foundries and her workshops, favors protection, and some other Democratic members of Congress, like the young and vigorous Spear, of Georgia, are joining hands with the Northern Republican protectionists in advocating a tariff which shall protect the industrial interests of America.

You cannot blot out the tariff laws without striking a staggering blow at almost every town and city in the West, as well as every one in the East and many in the South. Look in whichever direction you may, and we will witness the blessings of that law which the Chicago Tribune and the Democratic party want to wipe out. Ohio was once a purely agricultural State, but now is dotted with mines, furnaces, and factories. Indiana is following in the same course as was seen a little over a year ago when the Democrats attempted to carry the State on a free trade platform. Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, and the States West of the Mississippi are extensively increasing their manufacturing enterprises. The South, which once had only one boast—her cotton and her slaves—is now taking lessons of the North in establishing manufacturing, and she is making wonderful progress. Instead of boasting of slaves and free trade, she is now building school houses, opening her mines, building mills and forges, putting factories in operation and believing in the gospel of protection.

So long as the tariff law can do thus let the main features of it remain untouched. The committee of Ways and Means should recommend the repeal of nearly all the internal revenue taxes, except those on whisky and tobacco, and if it does this, it will be all the reform in that direction which will be needed.

CONGRESS.

Lively and Prolonged Session Probable.

WASHINGTON, December 22.—From the fact that a great many members who are new to the business have been placed upon the House appropriations committee, it is fair to assume that it will be late in the spring, at the earliest, when the appropriation bills are ready to be submitted to the House. This will give ample opportunity for the "flyers," so to speak, and the country may expect to be treated to a proteftul display preliminary to the real business of the session. The contested elections from the South will unquestionably provoke a great deal of very bitter discussion, in which campaign contributions will be prepared by both parties. The funding question will also give rise to considerable debate on the recommendations of Secretary Folger and the President, upon the coinage of silver, and a restoration of the volume of silver certificates as well. The tariff will be discussed principally for campaign purposes. It is doubtful whether any vital legislation will be reached on the subject. Altogether the session promises to be quite lively and prolonged.

GROWLING.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—A prominent Western Representative, who was one of the first in the field for Keifer in his speakership fight, said to-night that he represented the sentiment of the Western members of Congress in saying that Keifer had not done right by them in making up his committee-list. He said: "The course followed by Keifer, after having been elected on a western issue, in surrendering to Don Cameron, is not at all creditable to him. It was the Californians, the men of Colorado, and of the West generally, who nationalized Keifer. Before they took him up he was not known west of the Mississippi river. Don Cameron came in at the last moment, and accepting the inevitable, came over to Keifer, and now drives such a bargain with him as to make him appear in a sorry light. I was friendly to Keifer, and am yet. He has treated me with consideration, I am sorry to see him place himself in the position of having sold out to a Cameron when there was no necessity of it. Cameron's political wisdom consists in being able to see which way the battle is going, and taking sides at the proper time. Keifer was elected before Cameron turned over the Pennsylvania delegation to him, but he has been able to have had the sagacity to see that fact, and to act upon it. Now, Pennsylvania gets the Ways and Means committee and the Chairmanships of other important committees, among them that on coinage.

The committee on coinage should have gone to a Western man instead of being given to Pennsylvania. Don Cameron wanted an addition to the Philadelphia Mint, and for that reason Pennsylvania got the Chairmanship of Coinage. Still, our interests are safe with that committee, and the Chairman will find himself in a decided minority. He will either have to accept our views or resign. The Western men consider themselves aggrieved over the organization of the committees, and they want it known, because they feel that the West made Keifer, and that he has ignored any obligations to them by his bargaining with Cameron and Pennsylvania."

SANE AND RESPONSIBLE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 22.—Another expert, summoned originally by the defense, Dr. Diamond, of Auburn, New York, a gray-haired physician of 65 years, testified to-day, in the course of an examination lasting over five hours, that Guiteau is, and was at the time of the shooting of President Garfield, perfectly sane and perfectly responsible. Diamond's examination was tedious in the extreme to the audience and wearisome to him. At the end of the morning session he was so faint that he could scarcely stand, and at the close of his examination in the afternoon he got into the fresh air as speedily as possible. After his examination occurred the only interesting episode of the day, a spirited five-minute scene, in which the nervous D. MacLean Shaw, of New York, the excited Scoville, and the sneering Corchill played the prominent parts. The examination of both sessions of an average day was crowded into those five minutes. Dr. Diamond was for years physician at the State prison at Auburn, and has been for the past two years in charge of the State hospital for the insane, at Auburn. At both institutions he had abundant opportunities for observing not only lunatics of the ordinary kinds, but also, and especially, those accused and those convicted of crime. He has seen, while at Auburn, many men, criminals chiefly, who feigned insanity, and it has been his business to puncture, in each case, the pretense.

He testified to-day that he had always been able to tell the truth from the false in these examinations. He was, therefore, peculiarly well fitted to pronounce as an expert respecting the present case. He unhesitatingly said to-day that from a careful personal examination in the jail, and careful personal observation in the court room, he had reached the conclusion that the assassin is, and was on the 21 day of last July, perfectly sane and responsible. Guiteau, who with Scoville, thought that some of the statements of the witness were susceptible of a construction favorable to the theory of the defense, treated him very kindly. Guiteau interrupted very frequently, and, as he himself said, "Let Scoville do most of the talking." However, he said a few things which gave opportunities for laughter. Among other things he referred to the rage for his autographs, which has reached a scandalous intensity, and no one would have been surprised had he then and there read out the names of the "high-toned ladies of Washington" who had addressed him on the subject. He also drew the defense's attention to the fact that Guiteau, called him a "stupid fool," and congratulated himself and the court on the probable accession of Charley Reed to the case on the morrow.

Cause and Effect.

The main cause of nervousness is indigestion, and that is caused by weakness of the stomach. No one can have sound and good health without using Hop Bitters to strengthen the stomach, purify the blood and keep the liver and kidneys active, to carry off all the poisonous and waste matter of the system. A QUEER SCHEME.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—A letter has been received here from Reading, Pa., signed Borden and Lessig, stating arrangements have been made with several of the Berks county mutual associations, including the Reading mutual and association of Pennsylvania, to secure an amount of insurance not exceeding $100,000 on the life of Charles J. Guiteau, and requesting that his signature to an application, which is enclosed, be procured. The application is for $10,000 insurance in the Reading mutual and association, Pennsylvania, on the "life maturity plan." The name and residence are filled out by Charles J. Guiteau, Washington, D. C. The beneficiary is Arthur J. Borden, and his signature is followed by that of Calvin T. Lessig, the securing agent.

THERE IS MORE STRENGTH restoring power in a 50 cent bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic than in a bushel of malt or a gallon of milk. As an appetizer, blood purifier and kidney corrector, there is nothing like it, and invalids find it a wonderful invigorant for mind and body. See other column.

ABOUT A WOMAN.

FOUR WORTH, Tex., Dec. 22.—William R. Raynor, deputy United States revenue collector at this point, a son of Hon. Kenneth Raynor, of the treasury department at Washington, yesterday shot and killed John Morris, one of the best-known sporting men in the southwest. The affair grew out of an attempt on the part of Raynor to take away from Morris a woman with whom he was intimate, who on this occasion refused to go with him. Raynor submitted, and was admitted to bail in $2,500. He is a married man, while Morris is single. Morris' remains were shipped last night to Shullsburg, Lafayette county, Wis.

A SORROWFUL affair: A countryman, upon coming to see the sights, was taken by a town friend to see the theatre. When the lights were down and the play had commenced he was offered the use of an opera-glass. Examining it as closely as the darkness of the place would permit, he placed it to his lips and turned it up, finding that no liquid was coming out of it, he handed it back in despair, saying: "It's empty, John; there's no a single drop in it."

new building, it has commenced raising. He planned to make another visit yesterday, but concluded to stay in the city until it cleared up.

—Last evening Simon's Comedy company gave another very enjoyable entertainment at the Opera house, the audience being somewhat larger than on the evening previous. "Miss" was given very well indeed, and the company throughout did very excellent work. Considering the merit of the entertainments given and the popular prices of tickets, the company should have full houses. This evening they give "Rip Van Winkle," in which Simon is to take the title role. He has shown himself to be so clever in German characters, that much is to be expected of him in this. Of the play nothing need be said, and the public can rest assured that they will see it rendered to-night in a manner which will prove creditable to the company, and will prove highly pleasing to the audience. Those who attended last evening were pleased, for they got fully the worth of their money, and a richer treat is promised to-night at the same price.

—One week ago to-night some one broke into the office of Rowe's tobacco warehouse and stole a clock. The next morning Deputy Sheriff Cunningham, at Watertown, noticed a man who was offering a clock for sale, and on hearing of the burglary he notified Marshal Hogan, who last night went there, got his man and the clock and returned with them this morning. The man gave his name as George Chaffield. He is a machinist by trade and had just gone to work at Watertown. He denied the burglary, and explained the possession of the clock by saying that he had bought three clocks in Chicago and sold two of them before reaching Watertown. His accounts of himself and his travels are rather contradictory, and it seems pretty evident the right man has been captured. He denied at first that he had ever stopped in Janesville, but finally unwittingly let out that he was there Friday night, stopping some two hours or so between trains, this being the time of the burglary.

A Lady's Wish.

"Oh, how I wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," said the friend, "by using Hop Bitters, that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did it for me, as you observe." Read of it.

UNLUCKY, YET LUCKY.

Early this morning an unfortunate railway accident occurred at the crossing at Watertown, and yet fortunately no one was injured. The south-bound freight on the Chicago & Northwestern road ran into a freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, causing a wreck of two or three cars of the latter train and smashing the pilot of the Northwestern's engine. The wreck caused a delay in the train which is due here at 7 o'clock in the morning. A transfer train was sent from here together with a wrecking train. The transfer reached here again between nine and ten o'clock, and the track was all cleared up by noon, so that the regular day train from Chicago reached here about on time, and no other delays will be caused.

BRADLEY, THE BUGGLAR.

The jury in the case of Louis Bradley, were charged and discharged this morning. It took them only about five minutes to decide that he was the one who burglarized Towle's dry goods store in Beloit, a few months ago. The amount of goods taken cannot be definitely told, but probably near $100, as many silk handkerchiefs and other goods were missed. Marshal North arrested Bradley in Illinois, and found in his possession about twenty handkerchiefs, and twelve yards of costly cloaking, which were identified as a part of the stolen goods. Bradley himself did not go on the stand, the burden of the defense being that there was no positive proof that the goods found with him were those stolen from the store. The jury evidently thought differently and found him guilty. A motion for a new trial was this morning made by his attorney, A. Hyatt Smith, and is to be argued next Tuesday.

A motion was made, some time before the trial, for Bradley's discharge on the ground that he was brought from Illinois into this State without a requisition. The motion was overruled. When Marshal North was on the stand yesterday he was questioned somewhat about the way in which he captured Bradley, and how he managed to get him across the line, but North was shrewdly non-committal and asserted simply that he let Bradley ride with him, and didn't charge him anything. When asked if he did not take him across the line with force, he said no, he took him across with a horse and buggy.

Despised.

By the unthinking, Burdock has been considered a weed, and its luxuriant growth, unpleasant smell, etc., has rendered it, to those "not knowing its virtues," a nuisance. Yet the root has long been acknowledged by surgeons as most drastic, aperient and blood purifier. Burdock Blood Bitters embody all its good qualities. Price $1.00 trial size 10 cents.

New York State Sand Refined Cider—I shall receive in a few days another carload of sand refined cider, from the best manufacturer in the State of New York. This is the finest and best cider made on the continent. It is warranted pure apple juice, and nothing put in it to make it keep; when it is a year old it is better than when new; it is then as fine as old wine. I have it in 44, 32 and 16 gallon packages. One-half of it is already ordered. Parties wishing any of it will leave their orders with me and it will be delivered from the car on arrival at a less price than it will be sold for after it goes into store.
